

Chief fired again before hired again

Dick Kinsman lost his job as Stanhope Fire chief again last week, but this time he didn't even accept it before a by-law appointing him was rescinded.

As the result of a report given to council by the Ontario Fire Marshall's office, council re-appointed Mr. Kinsman to his former post of fire chief.

When called last Wednesday night after a special meeting to see if he would accept the appointment, Mr. Kinsman said he would like to have some time to think about it. He was given a deadline of 5 p.m. the following night by council.

At the predetermined time, Mr. Kinsman called the reeve, Jim Harrison, but he was not yet home from work. Mr. Kinsman told The Times on Monday.

Then the reeve returned his call. At this time the former fire chief asked if he could meet with council before he accepted the position again. Kinsman said the reeve replied he would try to arrange a meeting but telephoned back at about 8 p.m. to say he had talked with the fire marshal's office and was told that Mr. Kinsman could not be appointed as he had not met the 5 p.m. deadline.

"I've been fired twice before and they wouldn't meet with me to get everything above board," Mr. Kinsman pointed out.

"They want me to have consideration for them but they have none for me," he added.

This is but another act in an ongoing play that has seen the township torn apart during the last year because of problems arising in the fire department.

The controversy first surfaced when Fire Chief Kinsman fired four fire fighters from the department (after a private consultation with the former reeve Sinc Nesbitt, he says) but because he did not have the power to fire the men he was reprimanded by council and he and the four men were all suspended.

Mr. Kinsman now says he would like to make a public apology for firing the four men. He claims he should have suspended the men and then recommended that council fire them, but because of this technicality he says the problem arose.

When the suspension period had ended, Mr. Kinsman was reinstated for a six-month probationary period which ended in June and the four men were then fired.

During this probationary period another personal conflict came to a head when the township clerk, Gerald Bain said he would resign if the fire chief was appointed at the end of the probationary period.

Mr. Bain resigned before the termination of the period but since council would not accept his resignation he said he would work willingly with all the departments including the fire department.

When the fire chief's probation ended at the June meeting of council, he was not reappointed and thence the entire force resigned.

Within a half hour of the entire department resigning, the four men who had been fired were contacted and a temporary force was at the fire hall checking equipment.

At this point the fire marshal's office was asked to look into the matter and recommend solutions.

The fire marshal's report recommended that a new by-law governing the fire department be drawn up to regulate fire fighters' activities.

The next recommendation was that council appoint a fire committee of three members. Councillors Roger Woods and Alvin Johnson, both firemen, were appointed to a committee.

The report says that while Mr. Kinsman was wrong in dismissing the four men, the penalty for his actions was unjustifiably serious.

It pointed out that he had the knowledge of how the department should be run and that he should be unconditionally reinstated.

While the fire marshal's office said it could not condone the mass resignation of the fire fighters when it left the municipality without fire protection, it felt the council must accept at least some responsibility as the fire fighters seemed to be acting out of total frustration.

It was also suggested in the report that the system of dividing the honorariums be agreed to by a majority vote by the fire department members with the fire committee in attendance.

The report was prepared by Norman Vine, the assistant chief of the fire services section and Bernie Walsh, fire services advisor.

Although Mr. Kinsman said that he felt councillor Woods and reeve Harrison were against the report because of the actions they had taken, Mr. Woods said on Tuesday that council was going to follow 95 percent of the recommendation. Mr. Kinsman's reappointment was the five percent of the recommendations that was not going to be followed he said.

Both Councillor Woods and Reeve Harrison registered negative votes on the motion to re-appoint the chief.

Youth finds drowned teen

A Toronto youth found the body of a teenager who had drowned some 30 minutes earlier at the Kennis Lake Dam, last Sunday afternoon.

After an accident at the dam, Kirk Schmidt, 15 of Toronto, donned his scuba gear and started searching for the missing teenager.

After about 30 minutes, he found the body in 25 feet of water.

Earlier, Neil St. Jean, 17 of Hollywood Cr. in Toronto, dove off the dam where about 20 of his friends were gathered.

Where the boy dove into the fast water, it was filled with old crib logs and only about two feet of water.

The boy hit the bottom and was carried away from the dam by very fast water. The teenagers on the dam saw the youth's body carried downstream by the current and then sink from view.

Neither a post mortem or inquest was requested by the coroner, Dr. H. E. Good, of Haliburton.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Barry Connelly and Corporal Darcy Stevens.

$36,000 they don't know what to do with

The municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden has over $36,000 and it doesn't know how it will get rid of it.

The townships have been granted $36,800 under the Ontario Home Renewal Program (OHRP) but few applications have been made by the public wishing to use the money.

This money is available to homeowners in the form of loans, varying in interest rates from zero to eight percent, to bring their permanent houses up to municipal standards.

There are no age limits regarding the houses that could qualify for the loans.

To be considered for an OHRP loan the applicant must have an annual gross income of less than $12,500. A formula, which takes into consideration the number of dependents, among other factors, is used to determine the income qualifications.

If interested in this excellent chance to repair your home apply at the Minden municipal offices on Milne Street in Minden or phone 286-1260.

New Ministry job for Russ Wunker

Russ Wunker, of Miner's Bay, has been appointed special assistant to the Minister of Indian and Northern Affairs.

Mr. Wunker completed seven years as secretary to Bill Scott, MP for Victoria-Haliburton, on Tuesday.

The new position began today for Mr. Wunker. He will be assisting Jake Epp, a representative for Manitoba, with his legislative business and will act as a liaison between other caucus and cabinet ministers.

"I'll be his left-arm as he already has a right hand man," Mr. Wunker said on Tuesday.

Although he will be working under a different title, Mr. Wunker says he will still have strong ties with the riding as he spends every weekend at Miner's Bay.

Art show adds money to library project

The first art show, held by the library/museum/art committee, was the centre of enjoyment for over 100 people last Saturday afternoon.

Over 20 paintings of the Haliburton Highlands and 36 paintings from British Columbia to Quebec by Dr. H. W. Vaughan, a summer resident of this area since 1918, were on display at the Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home in Minden.

Also on display were more than 25 paintings depicted by the eyes of Minden area artists including Cy Heal, Gino Ziorjen, Elizabeth Carroll, Bob MacBrian, Lloyd Coleman, Henry Webert and Agnes Jamieson.

In an effort to boost the fund needed to build the proposed library/museum/art complex, 25 percent commission was received from the sale of the oil paintings.

Mrs. Cameron Carey, of Haliburton, won the oil painting 'March Sunset'. Another raffle, for a beautiful hand-made quilt will be held on August 12 during the county fair in Minden. This prize is now on display at Cox's Apparel in Minden.

Over $650 was put into the fund as a result of the art show and white elephant sale held during the Rotary carnival last week.

FROM THE CHAMBER

Phone for Social Assistance

A committee formed by the Haliburton County Social Planning Council met last week to discuss the problems and possible solutions to co-ordinating the many social assistance bodies and agencies. The main problem was that many people requiring help just don't know who to contact, or if in fact there is someone to contact regarding their problem.

During the discussion it was pointed out that many people are presently phoning the Canada Manpower Outreach office in Haliburton for direction. Jayne and Suzanne have become conversant with the agencies and the services available and have in most cases been able to point the individuals in the right direction. With this in mind the Chamber, being the sponsor of this office and the staff have agreed to provide this service on a regular basis. Representatives from all social services agencies and departments will be asked to work with this office to provide them with information and acquaint themselves with those who have problems under their jurisdiction.

If the response to this service is considered large the Social Planning Council will be providing volunteers to carry the work load. After a year of operating in this manner, if the need was apparent, a grant may be obtained to assist in the establishment of a full time central office to administer such a program.

If you, or someone you know in Haliburton County is in need of some form of social counselling or assistance please call the Outreach Office between 9:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at 457-1316. If they can't help you they will be able to advise you as to who can.

Community with a heart

It should come as no surprise to those of us who have seen members of our community respond to others in need many times before that our community has a heart. At a recent meeting organized to provide information on the sponsoring of "Boat People" the son of the organizer of "Operation Lifeline" expressed surprise and sincere admiration that a community of our size would be sponsoring three, and possibly four families, while a city the size of Barrie had thus far committed themselves to only one.

Those organizing the sponsorships are not doing it for the recognition, but to fulfill a need. They deserve your support and if you are not part of one of the groups that are sponsoring, they have arranged for a central point at which you can offer your assistance whether it be goods, services, or money. They have advised us that this information will appear elsewhere in this newspaper.

What's new!

Fairfield Bay Cottages, a long standing land mark of highway 35 north of Minden has been purchased by Gareth and Catherine Kellett. Gareth is a teacher and principal of the school at Dorset, a job which of course he will continue to hold. Gareth anticipated expanding the Spring and Fall business to compliment their existing capacity operation in the Summer. Charles and Evelyn Jarolimek will enjoy their retirement by splitting their time between their cottage at Irondale and their favourite spot in Panama City, Florida.

Hillcrest Haven which overlooks Green Lake from beside Lakeview Golf Course has been purchased by Angeline Gignac and her son Mark. They have already made their presence evident with an extensive paint-up, clean-up campaign. Mark is a champion figure skater of considerable note and it is expected that both figure skating and hockey enthusiasts will be anxious to meet him and gain from his expertise. Frank and Iris Taylor will be enjoying a well deserved retirement in the West Guilford area.

Four Seasons Country Store, formerly Elliotts Store at Carnarvon came into existence back in June but it was not until last week that we managed to visit Fred and Nancy Chapple the new proprietors. The major change they have made is to divide the meat department and lease it to Joe Hughes who formerly was with Welch's Store. Joe now operates as Rancher's Market in the Four Season's Country Store and provides the same excellent butcher service he has been known for for some time.

Haliburton Handymen is a brand new business which is being created by Donald Heaven. Don, who had had many years of experience with large construction firms in the city, envisages this firm as one which will service many cottagers with small improvements, maintenance work and winter surveillance. Don has cottaged here on Mirror Lake for some time and feels he knows well what the cottagers needs are.

Our sincere best wishes for a prosperous business go to all these new entrepreneurs, and we hope you will make them welcome to our business community.

It's Brussels for Lorraine

Lorraine Perry is about to embark on one of the most exciting experiences of her life.

Miss Perry, 17 of Ingoldsby, is flying to Brussels, Belgium on August 16 for a year's stay, as plans now stand.

Minden Rotary Club has chosen her as the student it would like to represent the community this year.

She will be attending a French public-high school while staying with the Dispaux family in Belgium.

"I've taken French since grade four and I know the basics so I don't think I'll have any problem," she said at her home on Monday.

This will be her first trip overseas and only her second time in an airplane. She travelled to Mexico on a school trip last spring.

Although Miss Perry will probably lose a year of school, because of the different grade structures and the subjects covered, she is not worried.

"The experience will be well worth it," she says, seemingly still smiling at the thought of the adventure. She had completed grade 11 at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

While Miss Perry is staying in Belgium, Jean Paul Dispaux will be living in the Minden area for a year as part of the exchange program.

Before being chosen as the exchange student, she had to complete an application and was interviewed by a Rotary committee.

Miss Perry was busy on Monday taking pictures of the area to show her new friends across the ocean.

Goodbye girl

Lorraine Perry gives a cheerful goodbye wave as she prepares for her trip to Brussels, Belgium as the Minden Rotary exchange student.

He was walking north on county road 7, in Guilford Township, when a car headed south, driven by Cheryl Nicholls, 17 of West Guilford, met a northbound vehicle on a curve.

Apparently there was not enough room for both the cars to pass and avoid the boy.

The car was not damaged.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Weldon Popp.

Minor injury

A Haliburton man was only slightly injured when he lost control of his pick up and struck a tree on the south side of county road 7, in Guilford Township early last Saturday morning.

Constable Brian Dunham.

Motorcycle hits car

An Oshawa man was taken to Haliburton Hospital last week when his motorcycle hit the side of a car pulling a trailer.

Gilbert Boucher, 24, was following the car west on Highway 648 in Monmouth Township, when the car started to turn off the road and the accident occurred.

Mr. Boucher was attempting to pass the car and trailer when he hit the side of the vehicle.

Driving the 1975 car which received a damage estimate of $700, was William Brown, 37 of Milton, while his trailer suffered $300 damage.

There is no damage estimate available for the 1977 motorcycle as yet.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Brian Dunham.

Gilles LaBelle, 31, was driving a 1974 car which was damaged to the amount of $1,500.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Bob Pearson.

Turns into passing car

A Toronto man received minor injuries when his car swerved in front of the path of a passing car.

Frank Somers, 66, was southbound on Highway 35, north of Minden, when he tried to turn into a private lane on the opposite side of the road.

Also at the time a car, driven by Victor Ewstratin, 18 of R R 2 Minden, was attempting to pass the Somers car.

The cars collided.

Somers 1977 car sustained $1,500 damage while the other, a 1973 stationwagon, received $400 damage.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Dennis Potter.

Treated at hospital

A Crediton man was taken to Haliburton Hospital with minor injuries after his 1979 motorcycle drove off a curve and ended up in a ditch along county road 4 in Monmouth Township, last week.

Donald Griswold, 29 of R R 2 Crediton, was headed east when he lost control of the motorcycle.

The motorcycle received a damage estimate of $600.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Boyd Jarvis.

A Haliburton youth suffered minor injuries Monday when he ran into the path of a car on Highway 121 near the high school.

Six year old Geoffrey Clarke of Markham dashed onto the roadway shortly after noon and was struck by a car driven by Herbert G. Lynch, 62, of Scarborough. The youth was taken to Haliburton Hospital for treatment and released.

Beer bust

There were foaming shoulders in the Harcourt area Monday morning.

The shoulders, those along the side of the road, received a beer drenching when a Molson Brewery tractor trailer left Highway 648. The vehicle was rounding a curve when a tire blew causing the driver to lose control of the truck. The driver, Ralph Fricker, 38, of Barrie, was uninjured in the mishap.

Police estimate there was $40,000 damage to the truck, trailer and contents.

Local musician and ponies highlight fair

A champion horse team and a local boy playing in a big time band will be just two of the crowd pleasers at this year's Haliburton County Fair, sponsored by the Minden Agricultural Society on August 11 and 12. Joe Howe, a member of the popular East Wind Band, will be performing at the fair. Mr.

Howe is the son of Joe Howe Sr., who was born and raised at Maple Lake and Fern Hartin, who grew up in Kinmount. He is also the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howe, of Maple Lake.

Also on show at the fair will be the Haflinger pony hitch sponsored by John Deere.

This six-pony team, driven by Alvin Laramie of Harrow, is the only one of its kind in Ontario.

"The Haflinger breed originated in the Tyrolean mountain of Austria. These small mountain horses have been a mainstay of Austrian mountain agriculture for centuries, even though their extraordinarily rigid pureblood 'book' was created as recently as 1921. The world's most famous Haflinger owner is Queen Elizabeth," a John Deere spokesman said last week.

Police on the ALERT

The Minden OPP detachment is one of 24 in the province which is now equipped with an alcohol level evaluation roadside tester, according to Community Services officer Constable Wim Magee. Use of the device will start today.

The police will be using the portable equipment, known by its initials as ALERT, as a screening device to measure blood alcohol level of drivers. The machine can be carried in the cruiser and used by an officer to test drivers they suspect have been drinking.

Failing to provide a suitable sample of breath, as with the breathalyzer machinery, will be an offense and police indicate that charges will be laid for those who fail to comply with a request.

The machine will give the police an on the spot assessment of a driver's ability to operate a motor vehicle. It will indicate three levels of impairment.

If, when a driver blows into the machine, a green light comes on, it will indicate a blood alcohol level reading of under 50 milligram per 100 millilitres of blood. This is below the legal impairment level as indicated in the Criminal Code.

An orange light, or caution, will advise the officer that the driver has a blood alcohol reading of between 50 and 100 while if a red light should come on after the driver has blown into the machine, it would indicate a reading of over 100. The legal impairment level, as set by the Criminal Code, is 80.

The ALERT readings will not be admissible as evidence in court. However, according to Constable Magee, the readings will give an officer an indication of whether a driver should be taken to the detachment office for a formal breathalyzer test. Results of breathalyzer tests are admissible in court in cases of impaired driving.

In addition to the Peterborough OPP district, of which Minden is a part, the ALERT devices will be placed in detachments in Mount Forest, Barrie and Downsview.

Ontario Solicitor General Roy McMurtry, commenting on the introduction of the machines stated, "We know that much of the carnage on Ontario highways involves drinking and driving. We believe that this improved method of identifying impaired drivers, plus a greater willingness on the part of the public to drive more responsibly, will assist in cutting down the tragically high number of road accidents in our province.

Police divers, Barry Connelly and Bob Pearson found the body about noon the next day.

Coroner, Dr. H. E. Good, of Haliburton, determined the cause of death as drowning. There will be no inquest or post mortem conducted.

Investigation by Provincial Constables Bill Clendenning and Barry Connelly.

Time for maturity

Just when it appeared the smoke was clearing in the multi-sided fire brigade dispute in Stanhope Township, the roof has caved in again.

Following a series of charges and counter-charges, resignations, cowardly threats and over-reactions, the Ontario Fire Marshall's Office offered its services in an attempt to mediate the dispute.

Being a neutral and objective party to the confrontation that has taken place, it is reasonable to expect that the Fire Marshall representatives would be able to offer a calm and impersonal assessment of the situation.

Not only could an impartial examination of the problem be expected, but with an experienced outsider making recommendations, it offers those whose hasty comments may have backed them into the proverbial corner, an opportunity to give a little. The study by the Fire Marshall left the door open for compromise on both sides.

The Fire Marshall's report, as filed with the Stanhope Township council lives up to just about everything that was expected of it. The report contains a careful assessment of the problem and offers some excellent ideas for correcting the present difficulties and action that will prevent such problems from cropping up again. As if to emphasize the impartiality of the study, those who found themselves on opposite sides in the dispute share equally in the positive as well as the negative aspects of the report.

The report then forms an ideal basis on which to rebuild the volunteer fire brigade in Stanhope.

However, it appears that the axes are not quite yet buried and that old animosities are still flaring to the surface. That is unfortunate, for if the dispute is not successfully resolved now that the provincial authorities have made their recommendations it is likely it will be a contentious issue for some time to come.

It is time that all parties to this dispute take a more mature attitude to this problem.

The responsibility for cleaning up this mess now rests firmly on the shoulders of the members of the Stanhope fire brigade, officers and fire fighters alike, as well as members of the township council. The ratepayers of the township, who must bear the consequences for any lack of efficiency or protection as a result of this dispute, should do no less than demand that a satisfactory agreement be reached immediately.

Editor:

I am writing this letter to state my concerns regarding the use of public parkland. It is my basic belief that when land belongs or is allocated to the public, it should be kept for the public. Even if the land is presently expensive to develop, it is indeed a short-sighted council that will be tempted to sell this precious land. Wouldn't it be better to let it sit for our future generations.

At present, it is my understanding that a new subdivision must allocate 5% of the total land as parkland or 5% of the total value in money. I was informed that the money would be put into a special account to be used only for purchase of alternate parkland or development of present parkland. Apparently though, after several years, this money can be used for other general purposes. I for one do not wish to have our future generations question why we financed our desires with their property.

I am in full agreement with projects such as our new Library-Museum; I am sure people would agree we should not sell our public land around the lakes to finance such endeavours. This temptation should never be considered. How different would we be than the underdeveloped nations eating the grain we send them for the purposes of growing food?

I hope the readers will voice their opinions on this matter and I would ask our council of Anson, Hindon, Minden to reply stating their exact intentions with regard to public parkland.

Bernie Davis

Social scientists tell us that the population profile of Ontario is changing rapidly. There is a clear need to begin preparation for the assault of the maturing baby boom generation on the health-care system. In increasing numbers, the generation which once crowded the halls of schools and universities will be crowding into doctors' offices and hospitals. The first wave may hit maternity wards and children's hospitals as the women born during the baby boom enter their peak period of fertility. That will be followed in the late 1980s by a steady upward trend in medical expenses associated with aging.

My colleagues and I are committed to providing the highest quality of health care for the people of this Province. In the view of medical experts today, it is in society's best interests to shift away from total reliance on institutional hospital care and move towards alternative forms of care in the community. However, the answer is not simply to close down hospital beds before sufficient alternative facilities - chronic-care hospitals, rehabilitation centres, or nursing homes - are in place.

You will remember that in 1976, the former Minister of Health announced a number of hospital closings, and an attempt was made to justify these closings on the basis of "regression analysis". Opposition Members fought the Government on this issue in the Legislature, and the Government was eventually forced by the courts to back down. Hospitals stayed open.

Now, we all have to contend with the problems raised by the Government's bed allocation scheme.

Basically, there are three major faults with this proposal. First of all, the formula is applied across the Province in an arbitrary way, and does not take into account varying community needs. Secondly, it is obvious that the Government has no way of determining which hospitals are now providing an effective and efficient health care service to the community. In fact, those hospitals which have made a concerted effort to be efficient and reduce their costs are the very ones which are being penalized by the Government. Thirdly, the Ministry of Health has demonstrated once again that, in discharging its primary duty to promote the health and well-being of the people of Ontario, it works in an unplanned and ad hoc fashion. In fact, one hospital - Metropolitan Hospital in Windsor - has contended that the bed closures conflict with this primary duty and are challenging the Minister in the Supreme court.

Clearly, discussion of the province's health care system - and particularly hospital cutbacks - will continue. A Small Hospitals Conference is to be held in the Fall. Hopefully something constructive will emerge from this.

The question of doctors opting out of the OHIP scheme is also causing serious concern.

Meanwhile, the Minister of Health continues to reassure us that government cost-cutting will not be allowed to jeopardise the health and welfare of Ontarians.

When Doug Campbell, District Manager for Ontario Hydro left the Minden Area, we lost a valuable member of the community and a hard man to replace. However, after an experience we had on July 24th, we are sure Hydro has replaced their previous manager with an energetic, competent and public-concerned individual.

On July 24th the fire-danger rating for Minden was extreme. At 1:30 a.m., we were awakened by a neighbour and informed that a private hydro pole on our property, about 100 yards from our home had fallen over and was in danger of igniting the surrounding pine trees and grass. A hurried call put us in touch with Hydro's emergency service located in Barrie. Because of our concern and the danger of fire, we took the liberty of calling Mr. Cal Wilson, the District Manager. He responded by going directly to the office to make sure the emergency crew promptly got the correct location and he then manned the radio and phone in case of a further emergency.

Mr. Wilson and our local hydro crews who work long hours to maintain this vital service are a fine reflection of Hydro's whole system.

Thank you very much Mr. Wilson and the crews who promptly repaired the damage.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

by William C. Scott, M.P.

Wars, revolutions and natural disasters in remote parts of the world are things which most Canadians read about in their newspapers, but the one international event that will soon have a very real impact on Canada and on our own lives is the expulsion of large numbers of displaced people from Indo-China, mostly Viet Nam.

The plight of the "Boat People" has finally caught the world's attention. Opinion in Canada is still very divided on what can or should be done for these unfortunates, but it seems clear that the rich nations of the world do have a moral obligation, on the grounds of humanitarianism and compassion alone, to do something.

On July 18 our External Affairs Minister Flora MacDonald and our Immigration Minister Ron Atkey announced that Canada will undertake to settle 50,000 of the "Boat People" refugees by the end of 1980. This is an additional 42,000 over an earlier June 21 commitment to take in 8,000 refugees by the end of 1979.

The additional 42,000 will be brought into Canada under a matching one-for-one program whereby the federal government will admit one refugee for each one sponsored by the private sector. This means that the private sector will be required to sponsor 21,000 refugees and as each sponsorship usually is a family of four, 5,250 separate sponsorships will be required to reach the 21,000 figure.

On July 18 Mr. Atkey also announced the establishment of the Canadian Refugee Fund, a private non-profit fund to be administered through a charitable corporation operated entirely by the private sector. The Fund will be used to pay a portion of the refugees' travel cost to Canada up to a limit of $750, assist private groups sponsoring refugees, and contribute towards refugee resettlement costs. Individuals and organizations can make donations to the Fund and once it is registered with Revenue Canada, all contributions will of course be tax-deductible.

Interest-free transportation loans to the refugees will be provided from a revolving fund. The refugees will be required to pay back their loans from the fund as they become established and are able to do so. In this way refugees already in Canada will, by keeping the fund liquid, assist other refugees to come to Canada.

In Victoria-Haliburton resettlement of refugees will be handled by the Oshawa office of the Canada

Employment and Immigration Commission (CEIC), at 47 Simcoe St. S., tel. (416) 579-2002. Field workers from Oshawa visit Lindsay and Peterborough. Mr. Tom Lockett is looking after our area and Mr. Ken McAlister will continue to serve our area as well.

Groups wishing to bring in refugees must include at least five members, and in the case of a church group, at least five church board members.

Essentially the procedure involves the consecutive filling-out and processing of immigration forms 1266, 1267 and 1268 which determine the group's nature, its organization, financial resources, etc.. It is estimated that between $2,500 and $3,000 will be required to establish the average refugee family of four for three months.

Sponsoring groups are responsible for the refugees food, clothing, shelter and medical coverage for the first year. The process is not complicated but must be followed through. An early estimate that I received from the CEIC as to length of time required to bring in one refugee family was about six weeks but undoubtedly as more refugees come in to Canada, the process will take much longer.

Turning seeds into owls -- whoo whoo

Viola Deumo, a resident of Hyland Crest, is going to seed and loves it.

Just about a year ago Viola discovered she had a talent for using dried seeds from a variety of fruits and vegetables to create an interesting and unique piece of art. Since then her work has been snapped up by eager buyers and close to 70 pictures have been sold.

She uses sunflower, apple, and pumpkin seeds, among others, along with rice and tapioca to create a picture of an owl resting on a branch. So far her work has included only the single design however she does plan to work on a rooster and perhaps a hen. "I really haven't had the opportunity to develop the other designs," she commented. "I've been so busy meeting the back orders for the owl."

And Viola does keep busy. In addition to her seed pictures she crochets, does wall hangings and creates dolls. All her handiwork is in demand and she finds that very satisfying. "It is nice to know your work is appreciated. It is very encouraging to know that people are willing to pay for the crafts."

It is just in the past year or so that she discovered her talent of turning common seeds into pictures. "We were visiting a crafts club in Coboconk, last year about this time," she explains, "when I first saw the seed pictures. Some people were doing them and when they saw how enthused I was about the final results, they offered to let me try. I seemed to pick up the knack of it right away."

The owl plaques start with a piece of board painted a light shade. She then draws the outline of the owl on the board and paints the branch on which the owl is sitting. The work starts with the eyes and works out from there until the head is complete. Then she finishes the body. Using fast drying glue each seed is pasted in place one at a time. It is a slow process, but one that ensures a worthwhile final product.

Viola explains that each seed rests against the next one at a certain angle, so that they "nest" together. With seeds like sunflowers, she varies the angle slightly to change the texture of the picture and to give the impression of feathers.

Once all the seeds are in place, the entire face of the board is covered with a plastic coating. This helps to protect and hold the seeds in place. It also gives the work a sheen that eliminates the need for a glass cover, once the work has been framed.

In the past Viola has produced a picture in about two days. "This was just before the Christmas season and there were a lot of orders waiting to be filled," she comments. However, that hectic pace has been a bit too much, with her eyes feeling the strain of the constant work. She plans to remain active, but on the advice of her doctor, will be spending a little more time away from the workbench this year.

Viola is a native of the St. Catharines area. She lived on a farm there until the late 1960's when she moved to West Guilford with her husband. He was a prolific oil painter until his death in 1969. Some five years ago Viola moved to Hyland Crest and has been active with various crafts since then.

"One of the biggest problems with this craft is finding enough seeds to complete a picture," Viola notes. "The reason I'm not making a picture right now is that I have run out of cantalope seeds." She is particularly concerned that some seed varieties that she uses are only available in the summer months. While the kitchen staff at the home save seeds for her, they are usually not enough to meet her needs.

She commented that a number of individuals in the area do save seeds for her, but would appreciate receiving from anyone willing to collect them. Seeds from apples, cucumbers, cantalope, watermelon, oranges and other citrus fruit are required. In addition with the autumn season approaching she'll be searching for pumpkin seeds. "I use the pumpkin seed for the nose of the owl. There is only one pumpkin seed in each picture, but it's a rather important one as it is right in the middle of the face," she points out.

Anyone wishing to save seeds for Viola is requested to, after they have been removed from the fruit or vegetable, place them on newspaper or a cloth in a warm location so the seeds can dry evenly. Once they have dried thoroughly, just place them in a paper bag and take them to Hyland Crest.

Viola points out that the drying is very important because the seeds will start to decay if they remain moist. And she would appreciate it if the donors could help with the initial drying because of the limited space at the home. The dry seeds can be stored without spoiling before being cleaned and sorted.

A special art display today (August 1) at the Hyland Crest will feature one of Viola's owls. It will also appear at the home's display at the Fall Fair. These displays will give everyone the opportunity to view the work and appreciate why Viola Deumo enjoys going to seed.

Viola, that's whoo

Viola Deumo holds one of the pictures she created with seeds. The resident of Hyland Crest has been making the pictures for just about a year and has found she has been unable to keep up with the demand.

Nutrition is important for seniors - consultant

As we grow older, our cooking and eating habits often change. While these can be the natural result of changes in lifestyle, they can also cause problems that can hurt one's over-all health.

Nutrition is as important for older people as it is for growing children comments Barbara Cooper, nutrition consultant with the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit. In the following report, she answers a number of concerns about nutrition for those heading into their retirement years. She starts by answering the question, Is it natural to put on weight as one grows older?

It is a very common occurrence that as you grow older you accumulate more fat, BUT it is not natural.

With age the human body engine "idles" more slowly and is required to do less work. It uses up less energy and stores the extra as fat. This means the body needs fewer calories - but not fewer nutrients - to keep going.

Fewer calories mean less food. If you continue to eat the same amount of food as in younger days, the ultimate result is...more fat. Keep in mind that balance is the important thing. Don't cut out food groups - just eat smaller portions of a variety of foods.

Also, think about how you spend your free time. Are you as active now as you were at age 25? If not, this could be another reason for extra pounds adding up over the years. Just as important as what you eat is your daily exercise. Avoid "energy conservation" and walk whenever possible; become involved in gardening, swimming, bowling or any other hobby that interests you and keeps you active. Join a fitness group for seniors if there is one in your area.

What about vitamin and mineral pills?

Read the label of a multivitamin or mineral supplement. Count the number of nutrients present. These supplements cannot replace good food habits because they contain only a few of the over 50 nutrients needed daily.

Certain vitamins or foods are singled out and proclaimed as cures for various health problems. These claims often create false hopes of cure, and may delay needed medical attention. Good nutrition may prevent certain health problems from developing, but a single vitamin or food as a cure is not the answer.

Special diets take the fun out of eating

They needn't. Most therapeutic diets include a wide variety of foods for your enjoyment. If you find your diet too restrictive, perhaps it needs revising and updating. Newer concepts in diet therapy allow for the use of greater choices in foods. Ask your physician to refer you to a hospital dietitian for counselling.

Haven't I outgrown my need for milk?

Milk provides calcium, protein and other important nutrients needed daily by oldsters and youngsters. BUT you don't have to just drink your milk... you can EAT it in the form of cheese, milk puddings, custards, yogurt, and cream soups.

I'm tired of bananas and oranges

Taking certain diuretic (water pills) causes you to lose potassium along with water and sodium. This potassium can be replaced by medication or preferably, by eating foods high in potassium. In addition to bananas and oranges try grapefruit, pineapple or their juices, fresh tomatoes, melons, dried fruit, whole grain breads and cereals, dried peas and beans, potatoes and unsalted nuts.

Some foods are hard to chew

First keep your teeth or dentures in good condition. See your dentist regularly. If you still find that chewing food is difficult try changing the method of preparation instead of the food. For example:

- Grate cheese or use in a sauce. Have cottage cheese or yogurt.
- Chop or mince cooked meats.
- Use ripe fresh fruit or canned or cooked varieties.
- Drink fruit or vegetable juices.
- Grate raw vegetables or chop cooked vegetables.

physically active and maintaining good food habits.

- In your daily food selections be sure to include whole grain cereals and breads, and raw fruits and vegetables. Bowel muscles need this roughage to prevent them from becoming lazy.
- Go for a walk or exercise daily.
- Drink plenty of water.

Laxatives have become a part of daily life

They shouldn't. Avoid constipation by keeping

I don't seem to have very much of an appetite

- Have an appetizer - fruit or vegetable juice, raw fruits or vegetables, or soup.

Wednesday, August 1, 1979

- Do something different while you eat - read the newspaper, listen to the radio or sit by the window.
- How about going for a picnic in the park or taking a good walk in the fresh air before dinner?
- Try making your meals a special part of your day. The more attractive food looks, the better it tastes.
- Why not ask a friend to join you for dinner or form a "dinner's club" with a few of your neighbours?
- Eating out can be a real treat. Enjoy your meal in the company of new friends.

Hot weather musings

by Roy Bates

We've been reading in the local papers in recent weeks the happy reports of successful carnivals and other mid-summer events along with the glad tidings that lodges and resorts are once again doing a land-office business. And that's good. But it won't be long, unfortunately, until enthusiasm will begin to wane like the warm weather, spirits will fall with the autumn leaves, and the good business folk in our northern communities will don the long faces they reserve for fall.

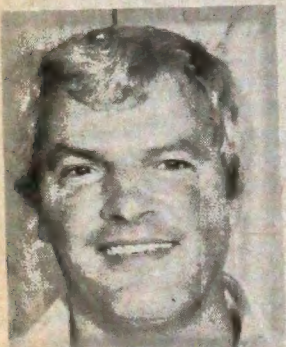

And well they might. For they have as usual, apparently, totally forgotten to use the golden opportunity of summer to promote the fact that Haliburton has become a resort area of some note in the winter months as well. We haven't seen a single sentence devoted to the pleasures of winter in the last three months.

Many of our summer visitors are still of the belief that those of us who live "up here" quietly fold our tents in the fall and slip away to warmer climates. Admitted, a few of us do, but a growing number look forward to winter for that's when we get a chance to kick up our heels and enjoy our Highlands life to the fullest.

So let's tell them about winter. Let's tell them about the great opportunities for snowmobiling fun, and cross-country skiing, and winter carnivals, and ice-fishing. And let's tell them while they are here, while they're enjoying our summer facilities, and before they have made reservations for their annual flight to Florida. It just might be that a few summer visitors could be induced to turn north this winter instead of south.

I wonder if there is one enterprising tourist operator who has thought to set up a winter vacation display at his place of business. Perhaps a snowmobile or two, and cross-country skis, mounted on a styrofoam pad with a backdrop of fun photographs, brochures and maps to gain the interest of his summer patrons. If there is one, I'd like to hear from him. The first to call (457-1658) and to follow up with a good black and white photo of the display will get a free write-up in a snowmobile magazine.

STANHOPE NOTES

by A. F. Stevenson

The report from the Fire Services Section of the Fire Marshall's Office with regard to the inquiry into the troubles of the Stanhope Fire Department was, in our opinion, a fair and objective document and the proposals were intended to pave the way to providing a good and efficient fire department for this township.

It also served to correct sources of irritation and discontent that existed in the past among some members of the department.

It is our belief that a cool analysis of this report will indicate that some people have been vindicated, while others have been discreetly chastised and, by implication, that some improvements in the organization were in order.

The report reminded council that fire protection was the responsibility of municipal councils. In the case of Stanhope the report suggested that a new and comprehensive by-law is needed and should provide terms of reference as to how the fire department should be administered to meet council's needs or wishes.

It was recommended that a committee of three council members be appointed as a fire committee.

The report also found the former Fire Chief in error when he dismissed four members of the department and that he should have suspended them and submitted a report to council for their action. However, the report went on to point out that the former chief had a good knowledge of how a fire department should be administered. It also pointed out that the former chief did conscientiously attempt to carry out his duties as chief and while some criticized his leadership, others had praised him. The report then recommended that the former chief be re-instated by Council.

It further recommended to Council that he be instructed to assume a command position at any fire scene and the actual fire fighting be left to fire fighters while he provided leadership.

The mass resignation of fire fighters could not be condoned by the fire marshall's office but suggested that they resigned out of frustration because of council's action in dismissing the chief.

On the other hand the report praised the temporary fire fighters who assumed responsibility for providing fire protection to the township when the others suddenly quit and left the township without any fire protection.

The report also suggested that the department be re-organized into five departments, namely:- administration, training, equipment, fire prevention, and fire fighting.

Other proposals were made as to by-laws and recommendations with regard to advertising of positions on the department.

The office of the fire Marshall also offered to assist in the promotional interviews for the position of Fire Chief and of Deputy Fire Chief.

In the event that council should adopt the recommendations of the report, the Fire Marshall's Office would provide a forty hour training course and also offered to monitor the activities of the department for a period of six months.

It is understood that council will soon advertise for applicants who wish to serve on the volunteer fire department and then recreate the department along the lines laid out in the report from the Fire Marshall's Office.

Diets for trout to be improved

In a recent press release by the Ministry of Agriculture and Food said nutritionists are trying to develop cheap, well-balanced diets for rainbow trout.

Tests are now being conducted by Dr. S. J. Slinger and Mr. C. Y. Cho, University of Guelph nutritionists. The findings of the studies will be used to raise rainbow trout more efficiently.

Computer studies, based on cost analysis of Canadian feedstuffs, indicate that fish meal is the best protein source for rainbow trout this year. The dry diets, in pellet form, have proved palatable to the fish and profitable in terms of feed conversion rates.

Vegetable-based diets, featuring soybean meal as the protein source, could be economical if lower prices prevailed. However, these diets present digestibility problems because the high level of carbohydrates cannot be utilized properly. Too often, enlarged livers result, studies have found.

"The key to improving nutritional quality of fish diets will be finding a suitable combination of animal and vegetable fats, and fish oils," says Dr. Slinger. "This will provide a more economical source of energy and will improve digestibility."

Because fish are more sensitive to feed and environmental changes than land animals, their diet must be carefully controlled by man if he is to make a profit from fish farming. Dr. Slinger is experimenting with high-density diets that eliminate nutrient waste.

Research on the digestibility of various nutrients in fish feed is important. Overfeeding of phosphorus, for example, results in extra fecal phosphorus that causes pollution of the water. Algae growth is then inevitable, depleting the oxygen that fish need to grow properly.

"We cannot have excessive nutrients in fish diets because they are hazardous to the fish's health," says Dr. Slinger. "We are trying to find the best level and combination of nutrients to support optimum growth rates."

Researchers hope to determine the effect of water temperatures on the nutrient requirements of fish at various ages. It is known that 15 degrees C is the optimum temperature for raising rainbow trout to market weight, but many Ontario waters range from 1 or 2 degrees C in winter to 8 or 9 degrees C in summer.

Two Ontario fish farmers have devised solar heating systems to boost growth of brood stock and young fry during normally cool winter and spring months. If these devices can be proven reliable in improving fish gains, many mixed-farm operators could adapt the technology to their ponds.

If economical diets and warmer water temperatures can be achieved, a farm pond of an acre or two could raise up to 50,000 rainbow trout from fingerlings to market size.

The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food has partially funded fish nutrition research at Guelph since July 1977, in cooperation with the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources, and the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada.

Hydro studying alternate energy sources

Ontario Hydro is investigating several alternative generation and the impact of transmission corridors on energy programs, including wood and wind, a press rural property values.

The following are the studies being compiled for future release dated July 23 states.

Other studies now underway are a nuclear test use program, studies on pollution from fossil-fuelled

Use of wood

Hydro has engaged Sandwell Company to do capital cost estimates for wood-handling facilities for four sizes of wood-fuelled generating stations. The work is part of the overall assessment of the generation of electricity using forest industry wood waste or plantation harvesting. The report is in the final stages of preparation.

Wind-Power

Hydro will act as project manager on behalf of the Ministry of Energy, co-ordinating the design, construction and operation of a wind turbine/diesel demonstration project to be located near Sudbury next year. Several government agencies are involved in the development, which is being designed for application in small isolated communities, many of which are dependant on expensive diesel generators for their electricity supply.

The Sudbury project will develop a wind turbine which would assist the diesel generator when wind conditions permit. The estimated cost is $425,000 and the principal funding will come from the Ontario Ministry of Northern Affairs.

On a similar but separate project, Hydro has engaged a firm of wind energy consultants, Worldwind, to provide design and consulting services on a low technology wind energy demonstration project being conducted by the Ministry of Energy near Petersburg. Hydro is administering the project for the Ministry and is providing a surplus transmission tower, as well as engineering guidance in the area of electric power and control systems.

Hydro-Electric

The Board approved the extension of studies done last year by Shawinigan Energy Consultants to assess the remaining hydro-electric potential on the Mattigami River. Preliminary work done in the 1950s indicated that the remaining potential head on the river would best be concentrated at Grand Rapids, downstream from Hydro's Kipling generating station. The capacity available to Hydro is expected to be in the range of 160,000 kilowatts, about 30 per cent of the capacity of a single reactor at the Pickering nuclear station.

The work will include recommending the preferred location of the dam, confirmation of the overall engineering feasibility of the project and the probable cost range for development of the site. Shawinigan's report is expected in December.

Nuclear Test Program

Ontario Hydro will participate in an international research program designed to test the reactions of various items of nuclear equipment to a postulated pipe break. This work is being undertaken to increase knowledge of the safety margins available in CANDU nuclear generating stations. There are no large-scale facilities in Canada in which to carry out such experiments, therefore Hydro is joining a program to be conducted at the Marviken facility in Sweden, where work of this type has been done for ten years.

Technical details of the program are being worked out between Hydro, Electric Power Research Institute (USA), and Studsvik Energiteknik AB, operators of the Marviken Project. It is proposed that the test program be funded by the membership of the Project, which includes organizations from ten countries.

Hydro's share of the program cost is estimated at $2 million and this approach is deemed the least expensive way of providing the needed data. The program should get under way this summer.

Air Pollution

A contract was awarded to a Queen's University group to study effects on human health of increased air pollution from fossil-fuelled generation producing power for export. The results of this study are required to support Hydro's application to the National Energy Board for an export licence to replace the current one which expires on June 30, 1981. The report is expected in November.

Property Values

To assist Hydro in the current review of its property compensation policy, Woods, Gordon Company has been engaged to study the impact of transmission corridors on rural property values. The need arises from the conclusion of a recent report from the Royal Commission on Electric Power Planning, which concluded that properties affected by transmission lines had consistently lower re-sale values than those used for comparison purposes.

This conclusion was in conflict with previous, though limited, findings on the subject and Hydro is seeking a more definitive study on which to base its property compensation policies.

Industrial Hygiene

A grant of $10,000 is being made to the University of Toronto to support the need for an expanded research capability in industrial hygiene as well as occupational health and safety engineering in the University's Chemical Engineering Department. Hydro has made use of the services of the Department in the past but has never assisted in the funding any of its work.

The Department's proposal places emphasis on the training of industrial hygienists which will ultimately benefit Hydro's continuing need for competent graduates in this field.

Burst of power

These canoers had a burst of power in the Stinson Memorial Canoe Race when they saw they were nearing the finish line. Unfortunately the power came a little late as they didn't win the race.

This little tyke had a great time riding his bicycle in the parade down the main street of Minden on Wednesday evening.

Look at that

The two little girls pictured above had lots of fun watching the parade.

Capturing the wind and life

Sailing: a philosopher's dream.

A sport that can bring man the closest he'll probably ever be to nature.

The feeling of being a part of days gone by when the wind dies and your craft gently drifts with the current. Or the fast-paced quick-thinking excitement when the wind starts to blow and every gust of it must be used to its fullest.

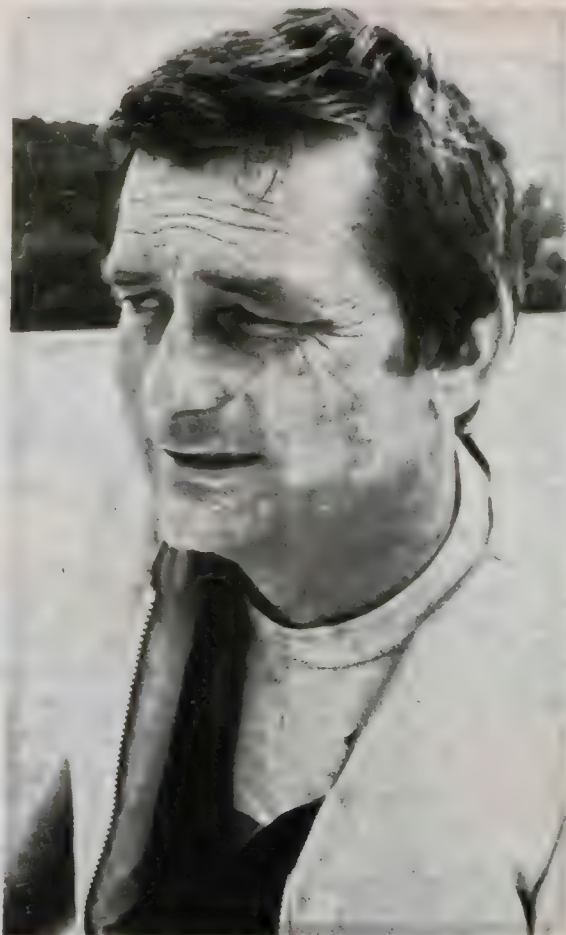

The feeling of relaxation that takes over when the mind is allowed to wander for a time, to delve into unexplored thoughts or daydreams of days to come.

These are the feelings that Jiri Spirk is offering this week.

Mr. Spirk has been teaching sailing and windsurfing lessons on Lake Kashagawigamog for the past week and a half and will be continuing until this Saturday.

The lessons are based on accepted sailing standards according to Mr. Spirk but more time is spent on learning the techniques than theory. These lessons are in conjunction with Sir Sanford Fleming College in Haliburton.

Mr. Spirk, who has competed in many races with his wife Anna, is quite at home in the rather cramped quarters of the small Laser craft.

That's the life

Jiri Spirk, an experienced sailor, has competed in many exciting sailing races. He is teaching lessons on Lake Kashagawigamog this week.

After being involved in sailing for almost 28 years (many of those years spent sailing in Czechoslovakia) it is hard to imagine that there is anything left for him to learn about sailing.

But he says he is still learning, especially when in a race.

"In a race you're always pushing, pushing, pushing," he says.

Although he says wind conditions on Kashagawigamog are generally terrible there are a few days when the wind really blows.

"You should have been here on Wednesday when the wind was really blowing," says one of his students who just completed a week's instruction. "There's nothing like being hiked right out with the water just brushing your behind but you're not really getting wet," he adds.

"It's one of the few really exciting things left," says another student, "It's just indescribable. You've got to do it for yourself."

When talking about sailing, Mr. Spirk seems to have a special place for the sport in his heart. To him it is a way of life.

"When we came to Canada, we bought a sailboat before our furniture," he laughs.

His wife Anna is also involved in the hobby-turned-business.

She is available when customers want to rent sailboats or windsurfers or are just interested.

When explaining the difference of some of the sailboats she smiles when she points to a rather clumsy but sturdy looking sailboat.

"That's the one our son sails, he's only seven," she says.

And when asked if his son will become as serious about the sport as he is, Mr. Spirk just smiles and says "he better".

Party's over

The only sad thing about windsurfing is that it always has to end. This boy rented a windsurfer from the Spirks.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Linda English

Monday we began the week with a kick at Fun & Fitness. Even though the weather was hot and sticky, everyone enjoyed their morning exercising to music.

Later in the afternoon, the ladies made their way downstairs to work on their projects in Crafts. Lemonade, tea and goodies were served after a busy afternoon. Monday evening two very interesting movies were shown in the auditorium. The first film was called "New Zealand - My Way". It gave us a look at this unique country, showing us their quaint little homes and beautiful countryside. There is a great fishing industry there, and New Zealand is noted for their sheep. It is the home of the International Sheep Shearing Contests. The scenery was breathtaking as we were taken on a tour through the mountains. This was a most interesting and colourful movie.

"Safe Boating is Fun" told us all about the do's and don'ts of boating. We learned to operate and sit in a boat properly. It told us how to react in an emergency, and the proper equipment to use.

The message given was to use common sense in safe boating. This movie was most informative, and those who watched seemed to enjoy it very much.

Rev. Don Nicholson of the United Church in Haliburton was at Hyland Crest to lead worship in the Chapel on Tuesday morning.

After lunch several residents gathered in the lounge to welcome a very special guest. Rose Darling all the way from England accompanied by Mr. Fred Ballard, sang and entertained us. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed their music, and look forward to having both back again sometime.

Wednesday, was a very busy day, as we had to prepare the float for the Carnival parade. The rain held off until we had everything decorated and ready to go. Unfortunately about an hour before the parade we had a downpour which nearly ruined all our efforts. However, we repaired some of the damage, and according to some of the spectators, our float looked pretty good. Our theme was based on the International Year of the Child and uniting Seniors and children. Irene Burns and Ralph Daniel dressed in pioneer fashion portrayed the Seniors while Kiera Connelly and Dale English also dressed in old fashioned attire portrayed the children.

These people presented a beautiful picture in the gazebo designed and constructed by Ken Fielding, our maintenance supervisor. All our efforts were not lost as Mr. Daniels was presented with a lovely trophy for being the best dressed gentleman in the parade.

Rosen wins Heineken Yard for third time

Wayne Rosen, three time winner, takes the prize again.

Haliburton ladies still going strong

The Haliburton ladies have a strong lead going into the final week of play before the playoffs, thanks to two wins against Snowdon last week.

The first place team beat Snowdon both Monday and Thursday nights.

The second and fourth place teams also went to battle last week with Carnarvon beating their superiors by one run.

The exciting game went into extra innings before the winner was named.

Marg Darby was the winning pitcher while Nancy Brink took the loss for West Guilford.

The next night West Guilford picked up two more points as they downed the Minden Homestead team.

Nancy Brink was the winner on the mound while Andrea Burk was the losing pitcher.

In the women's division, Nancy Barker ran the course in 33.32 minutes followed by competitors Karen Bews with 33.40 minutes and Susan Purkiss with 33.58 minutes.

AROUND THE TOWN

by Jeanne Sears

The Rotary Carnival had a good many things going on with Pioneer Days in mind. At one place Gladys Suggett, author of "Roses and Thorns", and Mrs. Roy Hopkins were demonstrating making butter and giving out samples; Judy Chapman of Mountain Lake was doing Weaving, Donna Vander Wekken of Carnarvon was doing Spinning, Beatrice Taylor, of our village, had her rugs on display and was doing some work on a wall hanging. Besides this there were people in costume at work and some store windows had fine displays. The parade had some floats not shown as they got caught in the rain, but the people who came out made a good display. In spite of the downpour Wednesday evening everyone seemed to be having a great time. Thursday was the 5-mile race and there were some 56 entries. Winner of the $1,000 was Mrs. Greene of Pickering holding number 2132. Congratulations to her.

Cairine Figueredo has been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. L. McCarey. She sang one Sunday at Minden United Church. After a lovely visit she and her family returned home to Binghamton N.Y.

Don't forget these people at Hyland Crest having birthdays in August, Ethel Robinson 6th, Isabella Avery 16th, Eliza Chalmers, 19th, Charlotte Cooper 20th, Viola Deumo 27th, Alberta Webber, 29th, Alma Rutter 21st, Frank Ship 13th and Ern Berry 25th.

Frankie Peel and Jody from Chilliwack B.C. are spending their holidays with the Len Hamiltons and her family in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Gartshore and family of Toronto have been visiting relatives in the village.

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Kernohan have been Mr. and Mrs. Jim Graham and Michael of Huntsville, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barkwell of Port Sydney, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sisson of Lindsay.

Mrs. Gerald Welch of Florida and Ronald Welch of Frankford have been recent guests with Mrs. Harry Welch.

Bradley Robinson of London is enjoying a visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson.

Congratulations to the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Barry Ward (nee Elizabeth Wood) who were married on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Congdon and family have been visiting their relatives in our village.

Muriel Ewing and Chris and Scott of Toronto are holidaying with the Milton Sears.

Their friends send good wishes to these people who have been in hospital Susan Archer and JoAnne Stamp.

Sincere sympathy goes to the family and friends of the late Mrs. Cecil Burke, whose funeral was since last week.

The Library Museum Art Raffle of the Painting donated by Dr. Jamieson had Mrs. Cameron Carey of Haliburton winner of this.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson were guests at the wedding of Kevin Cockburn and Eleanor Benson on Saturday at Woodville.

Mrs. Russell Lewis has been away for a visit with Miss Isobel Davies of Lindsay and the George Maddocks of Valentia.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kantor of Potomac, Maryland have recently been the guests of Phyllis and Kenneth Brown of South Lake.

The Library-Museum Group are having their meeting August 6th at Municipal Office at 8 p.m. They also have a quilt raffle going on, and you can see this in Cox's Apparel window and draw is to be made August 12th. The Horticulture Meeting will be August 7th at 7:30 p.m. at the Municipal Office as well. Everyone welcome at these meetings.

IN MEMORIAM

WALKER: Infant son Derek Charles Harvey Walker. Born June 19, 1978 Died August 5, 1978.

This past year has quickly gone
The days were so long and dreary
I'm sure the sun that one time shone
Will someday come out clearly.
The day came, and you were born
You brought us lots of joy
You made our hearts so warm inside
One never could destroy.

Little boys were made for Dads
To buy a baseball for
For puppy dogs to follow home
For mothers to enjoy.
He kept us very busy
We surely did enjoy
The fun of being parents
To our darling baby boy...

Sadly missed and never to be forgotten. Jim and Sharon. 8A

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Tim Toye
He loved and was loved by many.

No one can know the shock and grief his family and friends felt that Sunday night, when we were told that Tim was dead and would never sing again.

As we walked into the funeral home and heard the music playing, I was expecting him to sit up with his guitar in his hand and start to sing, but as it all sinks in you know that will never be true again.

So we all must live on, but sometimes it is hard to keep on going without that man to talk, laugh and party with.

Uncle Tim, you will always be in our thoughts, and I know you and grandma are both very happy in heaven together. Our love will always be with you.

Your loving niece, Brenda Toye. 8A
